NO PLACE NOW FOR KNOCKERS

President Tucker, of Exposition

Harry St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown Exposition, who was in Washington, pending the progress of legislation bearing on the exposition milliondollar loan, returned to his office in exposition headquarters this morning.

As might be expected, Mr. Tucker was in high spirits. He has been away from Norfolk for about a month continuously.

"We feel as if we have won a great victory," said Mr. Tucker, or, in the language of the poet, "We've met the enemy and they are our'n."

"The securing of the loan in the face of strong opposition was a piece of the most magnificent work that I have ever Ecen.

It would have thrown the exposition prictically in the hands of the Treasury Department. But we had friends in the House and they wanted us to get money the way we wanted it. "Now is the time for everybody in Norfolk, Pertsmouth, Newport News and surrounding territory to get a shoulder under the wheel and push, and the exposition will be a most magnificent sugcess. There is now no place for knockers. They have been done away with."

Mr. Tucker will not be here very long. He will probably leave this week for DANVILLE, VA., February 6.—The special Stand jury empanelled Monday morning, after a sweeping investigation of the alleged illegal gambling in the city, reported his afternoon a number of indictments against persons who have, it is charged, been operating for years. Over a hundred witnesses were exam-ined, and many of them included young men of prominence in the city who have men of prominence in the city who have a fondness for cards. Charles Gee, P. Paseucci and Charles Clewis, all white, were in cited for keeping, common gaming-rooms. Pascucci has a State charter to conduct a social club.

Three indictments were returned against George Smith and W. E. Buck, the proprietors of a restaurant here, for selling whiskey without license. A number of other indictments against both whites and blacks were reported for operating disorderly houses.

The feature of the report of the grand jury was the indictment of R. L. Woolfolk, deputy city sergoant and failer, for cardessly and negligently suffering prisoners to escape from the city jail on January 25th. Jailer Woolfolk accidentally failed to securely lock the main door of the prison and as a result eight of the prisoners gained their liberty before the error was corrected. He was exonerated at a hearing several days ago before Mayor Harry Wooding.

The grand jury exonerated from blame Police Offleers W. S. Edwards and R. E. Morris, who shot and killed R. E. Reynolds, a young white man, in a pistod diel in the tenderion district.

Justifiable homicide was reported in the killing of John C. Cousins by George Stechman.
